Yeah, I watch TV, yeah, I understand a little bit what's going on out there, but man, I don't know what's going on out there, I don't know how to survive out there, you know what I mean?

Everybody, I mean, every human being you fear a change, even if you hate something you're doing in life, you don't wanna change it 'cause you don't know if it's gonna be better or worse what you change it for.

Sometimes it just seems inevitable that you're gonna come back, it's hard to imagine not being back, it's hard to imagine not being here, for real.

I think I've lost my mind, I lost who I was, I know that, I ain't the same person I was.

I've changed a lot this ten years, you know? I've changed a lot. Like, for real, I'm still a little kid, man. For real, I think like a sixteen year old, for real... I'm 27 years old.

IT'S THREE DAYS OUT FROM THE END OF INMATE DWAYNE ROSIER'S TEN YEAR PRISON SENTENCE AND HE'S LEAVING SEGREGATION FOR ONE OF THE FIRST TIMES IN THREE MONTHS TO START THE RELEASE PROCESS. THESE ARE THE FIRST STEPS TO FREEDOM, WHAT EVERY INMATE GOES THROUGH BEFORE GETTING OUT.

- Rosier.

Whassup? I don't know my social security number.

- Give me your name and number.

Rosier, 389352.

- What's your date of birth?

1/12/83

Okay, allright.

- Your name and number and the date, 2/19/02
- You can go through it... Throw away what you don't want over there.

Alright.
